You can't separate them. And you can't get rid of the backache until you cure the kidney ache. If the kidneys are well and strong, the rest of the system is pretty sure to be in vigorous health.

Doan's Kidney Pills make strong, healthy kidneys.

Captain N. Nason, retired, of 3528 Twenty-second street, San Francisco, says:

I am not certain whether a fall I met with some seven years ago was the primary cause of my backache or not, but I noticed from then on I was subject to attacks. Knowing that my kidneys were either sluggish or over excited it struck me if Doan's Kidney Pills were for those organs alone they might help me to cure over a rather severe attack of backache, and I took them. They stopped the aching. I will be pleased to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills when opportunities present themselves.

 It Will be a Manufacturing City

At the junction of the Dumbarton cutoff and the Main Southern Pacific line a quarter of a mile below the city, surveyors are busily engaged in laying out the site for a new manufacturing town. The land being subdivided is known as the H. L. Hill property, and contains 100 acres.

As the subdivision is situated at the junction of both the tracks of the main line and of the cutoff and is located on level ground, it is thought that any manufacturing enterprises will locate here.

Russia as Seen on the Inside.

The world didn't need to be told that Russia is red, and the aim of Mr. John Foster Frazer's new book, "Red Russia," is to show why turmoil, tunc and madness prevail and yet the life of the nation goes on. A fierce struggle for survival which has raged for generations is perhaps nearing a crisis, but the situation is not strikingly new. The author has traveled extensively in Russia, and his conclusions are up to date. To quote:

The throwing of bombs by the revolutionaries and the meaningless sapping of the moat by the Cossacks, though repulsive to and beyond the comprehension of people of western temperament, are perfectly in accordance with the aims of the rival parties within the empire. The vigorous, law abiding, good natured American wonders why the Russians cannot argue out their differences like sensible people. They might just as well expect the tiger and the elephant to enter into friendly confab as to which is to be boss. One or the other is to be boss, and the autonomy is only to be secured by bloodshed. The government has now the poorer, and authority is upheld by rifles. The answer of the Russian people is the throwing of bombs. Each side pursues the policy of terrorizing the other side. That soldiers should fire into a mob of men, women and children is no more to the Russian government than a police stimulation in England that order must be preserved. The throwing of bombs by the revolutionaries is regarded very much in the same light as an electrifying pamphlet would be in England.

Assassinations by extremists are taken for granted, and massacres by the police and Cossacks are looked upon as only a phase of the general misery. A few score or hundreds are shot down and "it is a pity." But "what do they count among so many millions who live and suffer?" Force is the only argument of tyranny, and force is the sole resource of liberty. And Mr. Frazer tells us that the same individual will now be found using force as the instrument of liberty and again of tyranny. This is when the disgraced officeholder or disappointed applicant concludes that the "government is rotten" and must be destroyed, or a "reformer" is bought up by an appointment to office. Here once again we are told that despotism is the only alternative for the reign of "an absolutely lawless horde."

Uncle Sam's New Pension Scheme.

Undoubtedly the plan for civil service pensions recently approved by the president will be submitted to the Sixtieth congress and, with some minor amendments, possibly become a law. The idea is to make the employees of the government provide a fund to pension those who remain in service until they reach the age of seventy. Each month a portion of the clerk's salary will be deducted and added to the pension fund. Until the plan becomes self supporting the government will assume the burden of making up the deficit caused by pensioning those who reach the required age.

Practically this is compulsory old age insurance. A government job will have a string tied to it, and the clerk who seeks a place for a few years only must contribute for the good of the few who stick and live to a good old age. As a business proposition for the government the plan looks fair enough. Clerks may be retired when they are past the age of usefulness without embarrassing the administration. Assessments, graded according to salaries, will be collected each month, and at the expiration of thirty years from the first assessment the fund will be sufficient to provide an annuity nearly the equivalent of the salary drawn at the date of retirement. If the principle is not abused for political purposes the service should gain in efficiency by a plan of this kind.

Reduced to lowest terms, Premier Campbell-Bannerman's plan of reforming the house of lords would make it merely an affirmative body, to ratify the actions of the house of commons. This means to concentrate all legislative power in the lower house, to transform England's traditional two chamber system to the basis of a single chamber. This would indeed be a revolution not alone in England, but in the whole range of constitutional government.

The New York man who has the fact that waded over Fort McHenry during the bombardment by Cockburn's fleet is considering the question of turning it over to the city of Baltimore. New Yorkers will never miss the relic, while possession would make the Baltimoreans happy.

Cuba does not worry over Taft's statement that the American occupation will last eighteen months longer. Quiet under the rule of a friendly alien is better than civil tumult under independence.

Passing of a Pioneer Woman

Mrs. Marie D. Elvin, one of the oldest residents of this city, passed away at her home Wednesday night after an illness of a few weeks. Mrs. Elvin had not been in robust health for some time lately, but her death was not expected, as it was thought that her illness was not serious. On Wednesday evening, however, a change for the worse took place and at 6 o'clock she sank into a comatose state from which she did not rally, and the end came quietly at 11 o'clock.

Mrs. Elvin was born in Switzerland seventy-one years ago and when quite young came to this country. She was married to John Elvin, who survives her, about forty-five years ago and the young couple came to this city and made their home and reared their large family here. Mrs. Elvin was a kind woman and a good neighbor, the one thought of her life being to bring up her children in the way they should go.

She leaves to mourn her departure her husband, and the following sons and daughters: Mrs. John Halston, Mrs. Edward Bangle, Mrs. William Abbott, Mrs. W. Worth, Frank, John, Arthur, Ferdinand, Theodore and Reuben Elvin.

The funeral will take place from her late residence this afternoon at 2 o'clock. The interment will be in Union cemetery.
